Assistant Principal's Report: Volita Russell

- Thanked PTSA for all their recent support of cultural celebrations: Lunar New Year, Black History Month, Mardi Gras; as well as for sponsoring chat with counselors
- Commended TJ teachers and students for creating and maintaining a culture of belonging with dignity as the school transitioned through the various COVID mitigation protocols including masks being optional. Everyone has the opportunity to exercise their right and comfort level. She appreciated the respect that has been shown by all.
- Reported the success of the Mentorship Showcase, thanked the parents for the donations and volunteers that supported TJ Mentorship Showcase.
- Thirty-three TJ students presented their 26 outstanding research projects in mid-March at the Fairfax County Regional Science and Engineering Fair. An astonishing 19 of the 26 earned a First Place prize designation in their categories, and the remaining seven earned either a Second or Third Place prize. In addition to the category prizes, 20 TJ projects earned over 40 different specialty society prizes from science and engineering organizations totaling thousands of dollars in cash and prizes. Six TJ students received Grand Prize awards and will attend the International Science and Engineering Fair in Atlanta in May. Two additional students are Grand Prize alternates.
- A student was awarded 7th Place in this year's Regeneron Science Talent Search. She received a $70,000 award for designing a video-assisted workflow recognition program to monitor laparoscopic gallbladder surgeries in real time, verify the surgeons' actions, and flag errors so immediate corrective action can be taken. Her work was inspired after a close cousin died from a preventable surgical mistake by a "tired, overworked, underpaid surgeon in India." Her new system is five times faster than similar systems used currently.
- Assistive Technology Club was featured on CNN for their partnership with local elementary schools for their commitment with low incidence communicators, nonverbal students or those with minor verbal abilities.
- A student performed at the Kennedy Center as a member of the National Symphony Orchestra's Youth Fellowship Program, and she shared a link to her solo performance. The piece she played was Time Pieces for Clarinet and Piano.
- Several TJ musicians competed against hundreds of students throughout the state and won seats in the All-Virginia Band and Orchestra.
- Earlier that day, the NBC's TODAY show aired the story about the work of a TJ student who has collaborated with FCPS curriculum experts, including Culturally Responsive Pedagogy Specialist Deborah March, to see more notable women included in the teaching of history.
- Tutoring: A new program for all FCPS students will be launched by mid-April. Students will have unlimited access to 24/7, on-demand, online tutoring support services through Tutor.com at no cost to families. Students can connect online any time, any place, and in most subjects for however long they need. Tutoring may be on-demand and/or scheduled at a time convenient for the student and/or family. Parents will have to opt out if they do not want their child to access the services.
